Imagine you are one of the founding fathers of America. You have just received word that the Declaration of Independence has been ratified and you are no longer under the King's rule. Design a flag that represents what freedom means to you, then write about it.

The form consists of a vertical line representing a flagpole, with a solid black circle at the top and a solid black oval at the bottom. Two small black triangles on the left side of the vertical line indicate where the flag is attached. To the right of the upper part of the flagpole is a large, empty rectangular box for drawing a flag. Below this box, the text "To me, freedom means:" is followed by ten horizontal lines for writing.
